What to expect

Pig shares are contracted in advance, and priced by hanging weight. The hanging weight reflects the butchered animal, prior to processing for retail cuts. You can expect a pig weighing approximately 250 lbs at butcher, to hang at about 180 lbs, reflecting the discard of unusable portions. The final retail cuts will be determined by the selections in the cut list, but assuming full use of the animal, in a 250 lb butchered pig, you would expect about 144 lbs of final consumer packaged pork product on average.

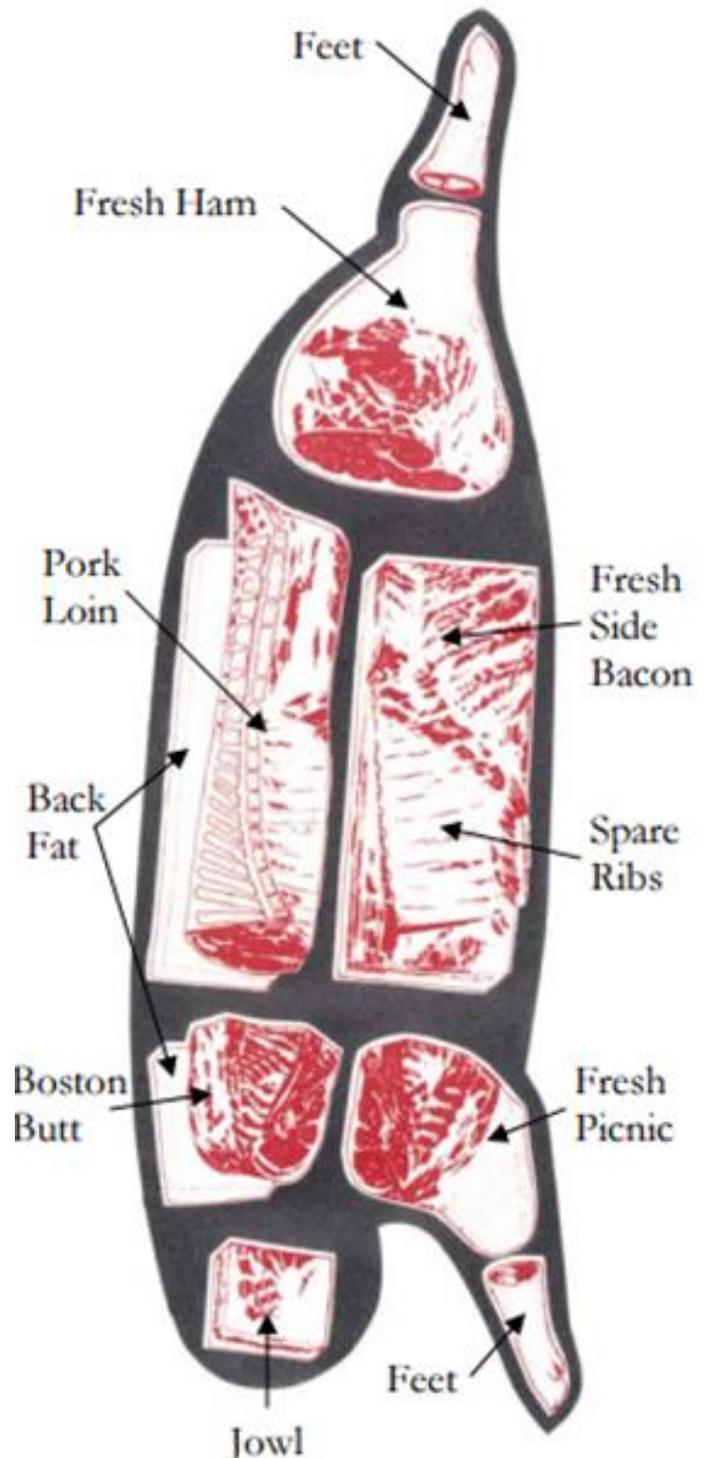

Costs

The cost reflects the animal as well as the per pound cost from the butcher for processing and packaging to simplify planning and ensure there are no hidden costs or surprises. The built in butcher costs are usually in the range of $1.05 / Lb. hang weight varying by butcher and packaging.

(Vacuum packed or paper wrapped)

Cut List Completion

When completing a cut list, selections will determine final yield. Please note in the comments section if you would like the feet, ears, tail, etc... returned as well or if you would like all trimmings used for sausage or other extras. Also, please note that if you wish to have trimmed bones returned, this must be noted. Please feel free to reference our website at www.bluebarnyard.com for recipe ideas for cuts you may not be familiar with when considering what to request on the cut list.
